

Amber Pratcher is a Financial Analyst at Altria Client Services in Clarksville, TN. She supports U.S. Smokeless Tobacco Co., an Altria Company by improving financial performance at the manufacturing facilities and shaping the future of manufacturing through cost saving measures and productivity opportunities.

In her former role, Amber was a Financial Analyst for UTC Aerospace Systems, now Collins Aerospace for five years. She was responsible for Cash Flow and P&L forecasting and Strategic Planning. She was also the Treasurer of the African American Forum, an employee resource group, in which she planned community service and fundraising events.

Amber began her career as a Scheduler and Earned Value Management Analyst with UTC Aerospace Systems working with the Bombardier airline program. Her career has afforded her the opportunity to live in cities such as Rockford, Atlanta, and San Diego. Because of her passion to pay it forward, Amber has volunteered her time in each community in. Her current volunteerism efforts have been focused toward youth in the areas of financial literacy, entrepreneurship, empowerment, and exposure to STEM fields as a member of the board of the non profit organization, Greater Than Tech, and through her business, Vivid Perceptions LLC.

Amber earned two Bachelor of Science degrees in Business Administration and Accounting from Tuskegee University. While attending, she served in several leadership roles including; serving as the President of the Golden Key International Honour Society, the Chair for the events committee for TUBE, and the class President her junior year. Amber also served as a peer mentor member of the National Association of Black Accountants (NABAC) and completed internships with Boeing. Amber received her Master of Science in Finance from Bellevue University in 2016. In her spare time she is traveling, shopping, and spending time with her daughter, Riley, and dogs, Laila and Mocha.